Overview

Dr. Vandana Pandey is a dedicated Associate Consultant in Paediatrics and Neonatology in Delhi, where her expertise and compassionate approach make her a valued part of the care team. With an academic foundation spanning MBBS, DCH, and DNB in Paediatrics, Dr. Pandey has further specialised through an NNF (National Neonatology Forum) Fellowship and holds a lifetime NNF membership, reflecting her commitment to continuous professional growth and staying updated with advancements in neonatal care. Dr. Pandey's active participation in research is evident from the poster she presented at NEOCON 2024, which showcases her efforts in furthering her department's scientific interests. She is adept in English and Hindi, enabling her to engage with a wide range of children's caretakers and families and promote understanding and ease during the delicate phases of child care. From the moment an infant is born and during their initial critical care to the developmental periods where children face health issues, Dr. Pandey addresses issues in pediatric and neonatal medicine. She has extensive knowledge in the fundamental newborn care, as well as the ongoing and emerging healthcare needs of children. Dr. Pandey's approach to care is deeply aligned with the vision and mission of Manipal Hospital, which stands for clinical excellence, patient-centricity, and ethical practices. Manipal Hospital's commitment to providing affordable, accessible, and accurate healthcare is mirrored in Dr. Pandey's daily ethos. She is part of a multidisciplinary team that values collaborative care, advanced technology, and the highest standards of safety and ethics—ensuring children and their families receive the most modern and compassionate medical attention. The hospital's focus on continuous improvement and innovation meets Dr. Pandey's own drive for professional advancement and delivering the best possible outcomes for her young patients. Above all, Dr. Vandana Pandey is known for her warm, empathetic bedside manner - a vital trait when supporting families facing stressful medical challenges. Her unwavering dedication to child health is matched by her passion for parent education, preventive care, and nurturing every infant's potential from their very first days. In unison with Manipal Hospital's ethos, Dr. Pandey exemplifies the blend of clinical skill, communication, and caring that guides families confidently through their pediatric healthcare journey.
